NEXT MATCH: August 23, 2009

MATCH SET-UP: 8:30 a.m.

SHOOTING STARTS: 10 a.m. or When the Match is Set-up

August 2009

We have a Classifier Match this Sunday!

We will shoot 4 stages, and we have picked out some easy ones...easy to set-up and tear down, but also easy to score well on. USPSA now only requires four scores to issue a classification, so this is a good chance to get one, or to move up in the one you are in. Match fee will be $20 for everyone to offset the additional cost of sending in multiple classifier scores to USPSA.

We will have some side match fun after we are done...Rimfire Pistol Steel Challenge anyone?

Brad Phair will be MD for the side match. We will use the small pieces of falling steel that we have and the match will be a Steel Challenge style face off. Brad will work out all the details and post them on the BP Forum...but make sure you have a good 12 yard zero.

Thanks to everyone that's stayed to help unload and set-up the new building. The method we used to get it off the trailer was a little unorthodox, but it came off with a bang! We got it blocked up and loaded and I think it will make our match days a lot easier.

I am looking for volunteer Match Directors for the remainder of the year, so if you have some stages you want to shoot let me know and we will get you on the schedule. Brian has some good stuff lined up for us next month and we will likely have a carbine side match after the September match.

Hopefully Paul will make it out with his Bar-B-Q and we will have some more good weather on Sunday, the forecast right now is for highs in the mid-90's. Don't forget your Sunscreen, lots of water and a good hat.

See you Sunday!

Kevin J.
